Catherine,

We disagree with your position and believe that Skyhook's amended privilege log meets the requirements of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The amended log describes the nature of the privileged documents, and in fact lists the specific attorneys with whom the corresponding communications were made.

If you would nevertheless like to meet and confer regarding this issue, I am available on Tuesday, February 14 between 1 and 3pm EST or after 5pm EST.

Best Regards,

Jim

Jim,

We have reviewed Skyhook's amended privilege log. The log does not justify Skyhook's redaction of the inventor notebooks. The log does not describe the nature of the privileged communications, as is required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(5), or indicate that the redacted sections of the inventor notebooks in fact reflect a communication with an attorney. The specific basis of Skyhook's attorney-client privilege remains unclear even after Skyhook's amendment of its log. Please advise as to your availability to meet and confer either tomorrow, February 10, 2012 or Monday, February 13, 2012.

Best Regards,

Catherine

Counsel,

Attached is the privilege log regarding redactions from Dr. Alizadeh-Shabdiz's notebooks. For previously-redacted entries in the notebooks that pre-date September 15, 2010 and are not recorded in this privilege log, Skyhook will produce non-redacted images of such pages.

Best Regards,

Jim
